COL. SINN'S NEW PARE THEATRE.

COL. Sinn could not have selected a better play to inagurate the season at his handsome Park Theatre than "The Merchant." which was given its first Brooklyn presentation last night. The play was written by Miss Martha Morion, and was awarded The Wonlin's prize. The play deals with the craze of money-gotting, and the author has written a very interesting play. The details of business life are introduced, and many of the incidents are starting. The play and the actors scored hits. John Glendenning as Carroll Vandersiyle and Beartice Moreland as Myrtle gave excellent impersonations. Fred B. Hatch, W. B. Murray and Cuyler Hastings all did well.
